Thoughts for Today's Readings

To the Point: In one of his seven "I am" statements in John's Gospel, Jesus asserts that he alone is the gate and the shepherd. In this extended metaphor, Jesus speaks of a gatekeeper and a shepherd in contrast to thieves and robbers – a dichotomy characteristic of Jesus' teaching in John. The imagery of "strangers" and bad shepherds is taken up from the prophetic tradition, as Jeremiah and others condemn the wayward kings of Judah. The Pharisees present do not understand what Jesus is saying, perhaps because it's at least partially directed at them and their own religious leadership. In contrast, the good shepherd leads his sheep to pasture, away from those robbers and thieves who would harm them. Jesus' way is not one among many, but is the way. Those who recognize the voice of Jesus and follow through the gate will find the promise pasture – eternal life is communion with the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit.

To Experience: The voice of Jesus as our shepherd stands in contrast to the many voices we hear in our world today – consumerism and advertising, opinion writers and television hosts, gossip and political vitriol. Each day requires a conscious effort to say no to false shepherds and to "tune in" to the voice of the Good Shepherd who has our interests at heart.

1. What helps you recognize the voice of God in your life? What false shepherds do you struggle to dismiss?
2. The psalmist speaks of a table spread before him and an overflowing cup, all gifts of a loving God. Where has God been generous with you? How can you be more generous to others?

The Heart of the Shepherd: A Call to All

This Sunday, we celebrate Jesus as the Good Shepherd. In the Gospel, Jesus reveals a startling truth: the difference between a "hired hand" and a true shepherd is sacrifice.

A hired hand works for a paycheck and runs when things get dangerous. But the Good Shepherd doesn't care about his own safety; he cares only for the life of his sheep. He is willing to lay down his life to ensure they are safe, fed, and known.

But this message isn't just about Jesus—it's about us.

By our Baptism, every Christian is called to be a shepherd. We are not meant to be passive followers; we are called to lead.

To be a shepherd in your family, your workplace, or your neighborhood means:

- Selfless Concern: Prioritizing the needs of others over your own comfort.
- Leading by Experience: You cannot lead someone where you haven't been. A Christian shepherd leads others toward the peace, mercy, and truth they have already found in Christ.
- Protection: Standing up for the vulnerable and guiding those who have lost their way.

The world is full of "hired hands"—people who look out only for themselves. As followers of the Good Shepherd, we are called to be different.

Today, ask yourself: Who has God placed in my care? Am I leading them toward the light?

Fr. Josuva

"The closer we are to the shepherd, the safer we are from the wolves."

Journey to the Heart of Christ

Last weekend during Mass, our prayer commitments were offered to God. How have you done this week? Did you take the time to pray every day? Did you miss a day or two? New routines take time. Be persistent and don't give up. If you miss a day, that's OK. Start again the next day. Here are a few keys elements to help with your success in making prayer a part of every day.

Tips to be successful:

- "When" – select a time of day to pray & build your day around it
- "Where" – choose a place free from distraction
- "What" – what to pray (already chosen on the commitment form) & commit to a timeframe – pray this prayer for the remainder of the Easter season or 2 months or etc.)
- "Why" – to build a relationship with God

Walk to Mary
Saturday, May 2

The Walk to Mary has become a pilgrimage like no other in the world. The annual pilgrimage has impacted lives and filled hearts with many blessings from the Holy Family.

The 22-mile walk spiritually prepares us for our destination – America's only Church-approved Marian apparition site – where in 1859 the Blessed Mother appeared to Adele Brise on the site of the National Shrine of Our Lady of Champion in Champion, WI.

We have so much to be thankful for as this year concludes. Thank you to our catechists who give their time each week. We appreciate the Franciscan Sisters of Christian Charity who partnered with the RE families. They have shared their vocations and the faith through their cards and have offered many prayers for all of us. Thanks also to each of our enrolled families.
